BIG NAVAL BATTLE NEAR PORT ARTHUR

Russian General Stoessel Loses Leg in Engagement.

Twenty Japs Killed in Explosion of a Mine Near Port Arthur.

ANOTHER ATTACK ON FRIDAY

RUSSIAN GENERAL HURT.
St. Petersburg, June 14.—A report reached here that a great naval battle was fought outside Port Arthur June 10. General Stoessel, in command of the Russian troops of Port Arthur, was wounded in one leg which was amputated at the thigh according to report.

DARING COSSACK DEED.

Liao Yang, June 14.—Two wounded Cossacks, wearing the Cross of St. George, arrived here. They tell a thrilling story of the fight near Taku-shan. Thirty-nine Cossacks were sent to reconnoiter the enemy's position. About five miles from Taku-shan they were suddenly surrounded by Japanese. The Cossacks charged with lances and were met with a volley from the Japanese, which resulted in the dropping of twenty horses, the killing of two and the wounding of others. The dismounted Cossacks scrambled behind their comrades' saddles. With nearly every horse in the command carrying two men the Cossacks charged three times, and though covered with wounds, they cut their way out and rejoined the column.

RESERVES CALLED OUT.

St. Petersburg, June 14.—One division of the army reserves of the St. Petersburg district has been called out. Half of this division goes to the front and the other half will be distributed among the garrisons in Central Russia, replacing active troops ordered to the front.

RUMOR CONFIRMED.

Tokio, June 14.—It is officially announced that the Japanese transport Tashoka Maru was damaged by the explosion of a mine at the entrance of Port Arthur yesterday. One officer and nineteen men were killed and two officers and seven men wounded. The damage to the ship is unimportant.

TO ATTACK PORT FRIDAY.

Rome, June 14.—The Tokyo correspondent wires that foreign attaches are leaving the Japanese capital for the Kwan Tung peninsula, which they hope to reach Friday, as a decisive attack on Port Arthur by the Japanese begins that day.

NEW USE FOR KITES.

St. Petersburg, June 14.—The press of Vladivostok has become suspicious of the Chinese amusement of kite flying. These kites, the newspapers aver, are used along the coast as signals for the Japanese torpedo boats, which thus obtain what information they desire without coming in close proximity to the Vladivostok squadron, or the shore batteries.

MINE KILLS RUSSIANS.

Chefoo, June 14.—While the Japanese transport Tashoka Maru was laying mines at the entrance of Port Arthur harbor Monday evening, a mine exploded, killing one officer and eighteen men and wounding two officers and seven private.

BATTLE POSTPONED

JEFFRIES CANNOT MEET MUNRO BEFORE JUNE 30.

San Francisco, Cal., June 14.—Owing to the injury to Jeffries' knee the bout between the champion and Munro cannot take place Friday night, as scheduled. His manager announced today that it could not take place before June 24, and the managers of the club have accordingly postponed it until June 30.

The postponement caused a stir here. Manager Caffroth, of the Yosemite club, says if Jeffries fails to appear June 30, he will lose $5,000 forfeit and the title to the championship.

PEACE IN SIGHT IN COLORADO

Troops are Being Withdrawn in Some Places.

Governor Peabody Replies to Missouri Critics in a Salty Message.

MINERS ARE WORKING AGAIN

Denver, Col., June 14.—It is believed that the trouble in Colorado is about over. The Cripple Creek mines are running again and many of the union men whom the mine owners want are back at work. The troops have left Las Animas county.

Governor Peabody has sent the following reply to the Industrial Council of Kansas City, which sent him a message condemning his acts:

"Denver, June 14.
"J. J. Pickett, Secretary Industrial Council, Kansas City:

"The fact that your council indorses the assassination, train-wrecking and dynamiting by the lawless element in the Cripple Creek district, but proves the necessity for my present action in suppressing all such from the soil of Colorado. Become wise before you attempt to teach."

JAMES PEABODY.
Governor Peabody denies that the strike was called to establish an eight hour day, and declares it was arbitrarily called by the executive committee of the federation against the wishes of three fourths of the miners. The eight hour day, he declares, has been established ten years in Colorado.

KILLED HUSBAND

WOMAN SHOTS HIM AND THEN KILLS HERSELF.

Cleveland, O., June 14.—L. D. Allen, aged 23, and wife, Marion Baldwin Allen, aged 20, were found dead in their apartments this morning. The woman shot the man first and then put a bullet in her own brain. She left a note saying she could not reach any agreement with her husband to support her.

BOLD ATTEMPT

TEN MURDERERS CAME NEAR ESCAPING AT COLUMBUS.

Columbus, O., June 14.—More Johnson, a murderer, led an attempt of ten murderers to escape from the penitentiary last night. The governor today refused to interfere with his sentence and he will be electrocuted Saturday.

OF STARVATION

WOMAN AND BABY DIED AT BERKELEY, VA.

Berkeley, Va., June 14.—Mrs. Anna Hanbury and three year old child died from starvation this morning. The husband is dissipated and the woman was too proud to ask aid. The bodies were found by a minister who went to investigate.

APOSTOLIC DELEGATE MAY NOT RETURN TO ROME

Rome, June 14.—There is a possibility that Archbishop Facello, apostolic delegate to Washington, who arrived here today will not return to that post. He says that conditions must be changed or his work in America will continue neutralized because of intrigues at Rome.

HAD A CLOSE CALL.

Louisville, Ky., June 14.—Governor and Mrs. S. B. Buckner narrowly escaped death yesterday in a runaway. Jim Clay, a negro ran out and caught the team. The governor was very cool. Mrs. Buckner rewarded the negro with a gift of ten dollars.

OTHER LATE KENTUCKY NEWS

KILLED BY A TRAIN.
Fulton, Ky., June 14.—A boy was found beside the Illinois Central track north of the depot here yesterday with one leg cut off and one arm gone, and several other wounds on him. He lived but a short time, but was conscious and said he was son of a Nashville hack driver and that his name was Billy Brown. He did not say how the accident occurred, but he is supposed to have been stealing a ride on the blind baggage or trucks. He was well dressed, about 14 years of age, and had probably been hurt several hours when found.

MARRIAGE IN GRAVES.

Mayfield, Ky., June 14.—Mr. K. Wallace, of Symsonia, and Miss Ora Neale, of Liberty Grove, were married at the home of the bride. Both are prominent young people.

GIRL SUICIDES.

Cadiz, O., June 14.—State Senator Hogg received a message from Marion, Kas., that his pretty ward, Miss Margaret Martin, had killed herself with strychnine. Miss Martin was in her usual spirits and no cause is given for the rash act.

The Blazed Trail

BY STEWART EDWARD WHITE

The Blazed Trail, our next serial, is a story of lumbering in the northwest. The hero, Harry Thorpe, entered the business a green hand and came out a successful operator on a large scale. But this was not achieved without opposition, and the difficulties he encountered make an exciting story. That he finally won, in addition to business success, the highest prize within the reach of a true man you may infer from this picture.

They sought each other's eyes.

The Blazed Trail

is a distinct literary success. In the virgin forest the author has found a field scarcely touched by novelists and has given a vivid picture of one of the most interesting phases of American life.

Brooklyn Eagle.—"The Blazed Trail" is a masculine book; it is for its robustness, its strenuousness, its fine pictures of the "Lumber Jack," its glorious toll in the battle with imperious nature, that it has a right to certain success.

Boston Herald.—Mr. White has the power to make you feel the woods as the masters of salt water fiction make you feel the sea. There is something big and elemental in his book, as bracing as a vacation in the pine woods he brings within our ken.

THE BLAZED TRAIL Will Be Our Next Serial Story
You Will Miss a Great Treat if You Fail to Read It

The first installment of the story will be published Thursday, June 16.

FIVE ATTEMPTS TO KILL HIMSELF

Jim Gilliam Says He Will Yet Succeed.

Onting, Polson, Ground Glass and Hanging All Given a Trial.

HIS FATHER IS NOTIFIED

James Gilliam, of Bowling Green, who was arrested yesterday after a desperate fight with Officers Cross and Hurley, has made since yesterday morning five attempts to kill himself and says he will die by some means or other at the next opportunity.

Gilliam seems to be demented, the officers thinking his mind is affected, as he is so persistent in ending his life. Gilliam claims he wants to die because his sweetheart in Bowling Green jilted him, but these who know him think he has lost his mind.

Yesterday his father, who is owner of the ways at Bowling Green, was telegraphed but did not reply. Later the authorities wrote a personal letter explaining all facts and are holding the young man until an answer comes.

Gilliam first tried to kill himself by cutting his throat with a knife, and later by swallowing large quantities of match heads. Later he secured a broken bottle and tried to cut his throat with it. Yesterday afternoon late he got a lot of small bits of glass and tried to swallow them but was prevented by those watching him. Last night he took his suspenders and blanket and tried to hang himself, and the officers are at a loss to know what to do with him.

DOUBLE TRACKS FAVORED BY BOARD

Says a Member of Public Improvements Board.

Opposition Develops to Deferring the Building of the New Market House.

OTHER CITY NEWS OF INTEREST

The double tracking of Broadway is favored by the Board of Public Works, according to one of the members. The matter has not been decided and will probably not be for sometime, or until just before the paving of Broadway from Fifth street out is taken up.

"I am not only in favor of double tracking the street car line," said one member today, "but of widening Broadway as well. In future years it may be impossible. It will at any rate not be as easy or as inexpensive as doing it now."

The market house proposition is one that promises to arouse more or less interest in Paducah. Last night it was decided by the board of aldermen not to build it this year, but the council may not agree to it. The excuse given that the butchers didn't want it built until spring, but some of the councilmen say that the new market house isn't being built for the benefit of the butchers, but for the public, and the public wants it as soon as possible. As the city will have the money as soon as the bonds are floated, and has the site and several months in this year in which to build it, they want it built.

The character of the new market house is causing officials considerable reflection. "We don't want a two story building for a market house," remarked an official today. "People who have traveled and seen the market houses in other cities realize that the finest and most serviceable market places in the world are not two story. They are largely two stories on a concrete foundation with concrete floors. They can be protected by doors in cold weather and opened up entirely on all sides in warm weather, and I think that a shed-like structure is what Paducah needs. It would cost perhaps $20,000, but would be exactly what we want, instead of a two story affair."

It is likely there will be considerable opposition to deferring the building of the new market house until next year.

The garbage dump ordered last night by the board of aldermen may have to be built by order of the Board of Public Works. It will be a large, barge-like affair, and will cost about $500. It will be moored far below the present dump, and wagons will drive on and off of it as they do on the wharf boat.

Something is clearly the matter with South Third street between Broadway and Kentucky. Many depressions are appearing in it which are said to not be from any old trenches caving or sinking in. An investigation will probably be made at once to ascertain the cause. The board of public works intends when the new street work is begun, to see that the material is up to requirements. The tester they have ordered is to be used in testing the concrete used as a foundation for the brick streets, and for other public work. The strength of concrete can be determined in a short time by the tester, and it is thought it will be a good thing for the city.

FAILED TO RETURN TO WORK TODAY

Boiler Makers in Paducah Continue on a Strike.

A General Strike Is Feared In Case the Company Attempts to Work Non-Union Men.

ARE NO NEW DEVELOPMENTS

The strike of local boiler makers of the Illinois Central assumed its most serious phase this morning when the strikers failed to return to work, within the time specified in the company's ultimatum. According to the statement in the circular, the men are no longer in the employ of the road, and any attempt to install non-union men in their places may precipitate a strike involving the entire shop forces.

Thus far none of the other union men in the shops have taken any steps to go out on a sympathetic strike, and it is not believed they will. In case non-union labor is placed in the shops, however, a different question will arise and there is a possibility that the men will all quit work.

It is understood that the boiler-makers at East St. Louis and Louisville, and possibly at other places, have returned to work.

The local strikers elected to obey the executive committee of their union in preference to the president, who says that the strike was not authorized. The executive committee called the strike, and although the president of the national union says it was unauthorized and contrary to the agreement to give the railroad thirty day's notice, some of the boiler makers are sticking to the executive committee, and claim that its authority is paramount to that of the president.

Everything has been quiet and orderly in Paducah since the strike began, and Assistant General Manager H. C. McCourt is still here, and expects to remain until Saturday.

As the company cannot well get along without boiler makers, it will now doubtless begin looking around for men to take the place of the strikers.

The people of Paducah are very much interested in the strike, as the shutting down of the shops here would mean a withdrawal from circulation of about $100,000 a month and would be felt by the entire city.

The boiler makers here make no statement except that they are obeying the order of their executive committee, have no ill feeling towards anyone, and have remained off the railroad's property except when called in conference.

CREDITORS OBJECT
IN BANKRUPT CASE

Judge Evans Refers the Matter to the Referee.

The M. G. Warren Case Will Be Heard Again By the Court on July 9.

ONE MAN WANTS TO WITHDRAW

The bankruptcy petition of Charles Robertson, of Livingston county, has struck a snag. Creditors have filed with Judge Walter Evans, of the Federal court, specifications and objections to a discharge in bankruptcy, claiming that Robertson possesses property which he has not listed in his schedule. The matter has been referred by Judge Evans to Referee E.
W. Bagby to take evidence as special master.

Judge Evans heard arguments in the application of M. G. Warren to withdraw his bankruptcy petition, and referred it to Referee E. W.
Bagby, of Paducah, as special master.
Warren was arrested in Calloway county for the alleged passing of counterfeit money, and sentenced to the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga. He filed a petition in bankruptcy after being arrested, but before he was taken away to begin his term filed a motion to withdraw it, deciding that he did not desire to take the bankrupt law. Judge Evans referred the matter to Referee Bagby to ascertain the desire of Warren's creditors, and will hear the result on July 9th.

Harrison Hughes, of Wickliffe, Ky., who filed a petition in bankruptcy recently, has filed an application to withdraw it, and it will probably be granted, as the creditors seem to have no objection.

There are two bankruptcy cases that have been pending for months before the local referee. They are of Julius Looser and of Harry Stark. The former is before creditors, who have done nothing, and the other may be compromised. It is understood a proposition has been made to creditors of Stark, but never officially, and no action has ever been taken in it.

CINDERS OPPOSED

GAS COMPANY SENDING OUT
WARNINGS TO PATRONS.

The Gas company is sending out to patrons along the sidewalks to be reconstructed, a notice warning them against allowing the use of cinders as a foundation or filling for the granite sidewalks.

It is claimed that while gravel or sand would cost more as a foundation for these sidewalks, it would be cheaper in the long run, as the pipes will last from 15 to 20 years when surrounded by sand or gravel, while they scarcely last a year with the cinders and ashes. It will cost the property owners about $20 to tear up the new sidewalks and renew the pipes when they have been eaten away, which the gas company claims will be in about one year.

The cost of renewing the pipe will be largely on the property owner, but the gas company is kicking because of the waste of gas by leaks, and of the loss of service probable while pipes are being renewed in a year or two, as well as the inconvenience of its patrons.

SEVERAL NEW ORDINANCES.

The board of aldermen met in adman Davis absent.

The matter of employing assistance for the city solicitor was referred to the finance committee. The matter of connecting steam heating pipes with the sewerage was referred.

The fire and police commissioners were ordered to select bedding and other equipment for the new fire stations, and report back.

The matter of City Attorney Tom

Attorney J. C. Flournoy alleges that two ordinances were passed, one paying $100 per month and the other $60. It was the intention to pay the latter and at the suggestion of Mayor Yeiser the ordinance paying $60 is to be printed in the ordinance book.

City Solicitor Paryear filed an opinion that city prisoners could be worked on the streets.

Mayor Yeiser was authorized to

The action of the committee in awarding the Western German bank of Cincinnati the contract for the $200,000 street, market house and hospital bonds, was ratified.

The board ordered the $13,000 which was held over last year when an extension of time was granted in the street paving made again available.

No hot tamale or street vender of hamburger, will hereafter be allowed to place a stand on the street but must keep moving, the aldermen con-curring in the action of the council.

The petition to open Bachman street from Sixth to the I. C. depot was referred.

An agreement with the Western Union Telegraph company to pay $260 for pole license tax for 1903, 1904 and $1 per pole for the three following years was filed.

The board decided to postpone building the new market house until next spring for the convenience of the butchers.

The board of public works was ordered to buy a $150 machine for testing concrete and cement.

The board of public works was empowered to purchase a $500 garbage dump and to employ at $45 per month an inspector to see that the drivers properly dumped all garbage.
The dump will be moored in the river and wagons driven on it and dumped into the river.

The report of the city treasurer showing $1,861 to the credit of the city was filed.

The bill providing for the refunding of the shop bonds was given final passage. The bonds had been refunded before the final adoption, but this was necessary to make the matter legal.

Second passage was given the ordinance providing for a gate at 11th and Norton street where the N. C. road crosses.

Final passage was given a bill providing for improvements to an alley between 10th and 11th, Norton and Jones streets.

An ordinance providing for a fine for mutilating books taken from the public library and for fines for failure to return the books at the proper time, etc., was given first passage.

MATERIAL FOR STREETS.

In view of the statements of city officials who have lately been investigating street material, brick streets will hereafter be eschewed in Paducah. There seems to be much better material at no greater cost, and Paducah wants the best her money will buy.The people will doubtless be willing and anxious to have anything used that will remove the possibility of having the work done by amateur contractors. The loss of time to citizens from poky, slipshod methods of street paving has been annoying and costly, and the experience we have already had should be sufficient.In addition, a walk over even those brick streets paved within the past several months reveals broken and crumbled bricks, depressions, and other evidences of the inferiority of brick as paving material. All the city needs is a hard material as near noiseless as possible, put down in as short a time at as reasonable a cost as possible by competent men who will furnish a good guarantee.

THE WAY OF THE LIVE TOWN.

In a number of places throughout the state we read of live towns and cities that are raising what they call factory funds, says the Evansville Journal-News. What for? To favor one class at the expense of another?
Not by any means. In order to accomplish some political purpose?
Far from it. Then why? Because it pays—pays from a dollar and cent standpoint. These factory funds are used to establish factories. One man offers to give one-tenth of ten thousand dollars to be paid directly to certain manufacturers if they will establish their factory in a certain city. Why? Because he owns real estate in the city and is engaged in business and because he knows that this factory will increase his income.
And others do the same. And in the country adjoining this town there are gardeners and truck farmers, numbers of them, where a few years ago there were few, if any. Why all this? Because factories employ workmen and workingmen have families, and these men and their families buy things—the necessities and comfortsof life. In other words, because factories make a market for everything under the sun. This is exactly the reason why the Republican party believes in the principle of protection.Conservative Democrats estimate that Mr. Bryan, giving him the doubtful states, cannot muster but nineteen votes in the national convention for the Kansas City platform.
They do not make any estimate on the number of votes Mr. Bryan can muster in the general election against the gold-bug element, however.The greatest paid attendance since the world's fair opened forty-four days ago was Saturday, when 68,467 people paid to pass through the gates.
At this rate it will require the total admissions for thirty days, estimated on the above 68,467, to pay one-fourth of the $4,600,000 the government loaned the fair, or four months and a half to pay the entire loan. It is obvious that there will have to be a big increase in attendance for the remaining 171 days of the fair to prevent its being a colossal financial failure.Louisville, which has had sanitary sewerage for several years past, is preparing to spend $3,500,000 for more.
And yet the general council of Paducah does not care enough for the health of the people to require the use of what sewerage we have had for six years.The Democratic press is praising the National Republican administration for appointing Mr. Dominick Murphy on the Panama canal commission. This is due, however, not to his ability, which is marked, but to the fact that he is a Democrat.There appear to be no grounds for the Democratic claim that they stand any chance of carrying New York.
Timothy J. Woodruff, formerly lieutenant governor of New York, said in an interview at St. Louis a day or two ago: "New York is Republican nominally, and it will be Republican this year. There is nothing to indicate a dissatisfaction with the administration, or to make the people desire a change. It is only a question as to the size of the majority. If Parker is nominated by the Democrats it is possible that the Republican majority may be somewhat smaller than it would be with a Democrat of the Bryan type or Hearst type up, but in either case it will be a good healthy one."The big corporation talked of to control the output of the mines of the United States probably exists only in the imagination. Doesn't Mr. Rooke-feller, the reputed head of the project, already own the earth?The combatants in the far east are hardly doing enough to justify a moderate headline. Colorado has been skinned a block.

SCHOOL BOARD

MEETINGS TO BE HELD TO-NIGHT—TEACHERS MAY
BE ELECTED.The school board will meet tonight to allow the June salaries, this being the object of the meeting.Secretary May stated this morning that another board meeting would be held the latter part of this month or the first of July for the election of the remainder of the teachers.There are about twelve vacancies in the white, and six in the colored schools to fill. It is probable that this list will be gone over tonight, but if the board is pushed for time it will defer the election until the July meeting.Already a number of teachers have left the city for summer schools.
Prof. Charles Payne and Prof. Alexander have gone to Chicago university and Miss Ellen Willis will leave for Chicago Friday. Misses Laura Hand, Rose Plonroy, Mabel Roberts, Ollie Wilson, Lora Brandon, Margaret Acker and Bertha Kettler have gone to Camp Girardeau and Mrs. Minnie Herndon, to Peabody college, Nashville.

WANTED BY MANYTrouble Ahead for the Democratic County Committee.Chairman Refuses to Call a Meeting—Candidates Petition Committeemen For Primary.

THE MACHINE VS. "ANTIS"

There is another epidemic of trouble promised for the Democratic committee of McCracken county. This time it will likely be over the calling of a county primary for making nominations for officers to be filled in November, 1905, over a year hence.Chairman C. W. Morrison has been asked to call the committee together to take some action, but desires to wait until about July 4th to do it. A petition to committeemen has been circulated among known candidates for county offices, asking for an early primary, it is understood, and twenty-two of the candidates are in favor of the early primary, most of them, it is understood, for a primary on the regular election day in November when they expect to get out a large Democratic representation.Some members of the committee are against this proceeding, claiming that such an early primary is unprecedented, and would in addition be a "freeze-out" for candidates who may desire to enter later on.
Many good men, they argue, do not want to go out after a nomination this far ahead of time, and the obnoxious office seeker, they declare, should not be permitted to do his work in a year in advance, and shut everybody else out.Besides, some claim, if this sort of high-handed proceeding is permitted by the party managers, it may result next year in Democrats who have been shut out by an early primary, making the race for some of the offices as independent, possibly defeating the Democratic nominee and electing a Republican.It seems, however, that about fifteen of the county committeemen favor the early primary idea, and have signed a petition asking Chairman
Morrison to call a meeting of the committee for Saturday next. Chairman Morrison has not done so, but it is understood that the committeemen
whose requests he has declined to comply with, will hold the meeting
by a majority signing the call, and in
that event there is likely to be a state of affairs something similar to the one over the chairmanship a few years ago.The present disagreement is regarding the early primary idea, and has signed a petition asking Chairman
Morrison to call a meeting of the committee for Saturday next. Chairman
Morrison has not done so, but it is understood that the committeemen
whose requests he has declined to
comply with, will hold the meeting
by a majority signing the call, and in
that event there is likely to be a state
of affairs something similar to the
one over the chairmanship a few years ago.The machine element in McCracken seems to be the faction that wants the early primary. Nearly all the known candidates also want an early primary, so the prospects are there will be an early primary.

MAY SUE CITY

DOUBT AS TO THE CITY ATTOR-NEY'S SALARY.It is reported that City Attorney Thomas B. Harrison will file a suit against the city to determine the salary of city attorney. When the salaries were being fixed last year the ordinances were jangled about from one board to the other until it is claimed the records do not show which was passed legally, the one fixing it at $60, the other at $100, or the one fixing it at $60. The aldermanic board last night ordered the one fixing it at $60 printed as the correct ordinance, and it is claimed this is the one passed and which the records should show was passed, as one of the boards refused to consent in the $100 ordinance.USE...

CASES IN POLICE COURT

The warrant against Henry Minor, colored, charged with assaulting Special Officer James Crow on the Dick Fowler Decoration Day when the boat was carrying a large of negro excusionists to Monmouth City, was this morning discharged.The authorities could not secure enough evidence to make out a case, but Andrew Boyd, who was with Minor, is being held and his case will be finished tomorrow morning. It is said there is strong evidence against the latter.Court was held this morning at 7:30 o'clock in order to give the officers on the steamboat time to attend court without delaying their trip. Captain Orider and several other members of the boat's official staff were witnesses.The most damaging evidence in the case against Boyd was given by George Watts, colored, whom Boyd claimed to have been playing cards with, when the assault on the officer was made. Watts swore that he, Watts, was playing cards, but was positive Boyd was not in the game.
Boyd claimed to have seen the officers bring Mr. Crow in the cabin and lay him down. This was corroborated by other witnesses, but they say Boyd came in a short time before the removal of Officer Crow to the cabin.The only evidence against Minor was given by Jeff Walker, who stated he saw a negro named Alvin Jones strike Officer Crow with a bottle and saw Minor strike him with the butt of his gun.Warner Williams, colored, who chopped Sandy Overby, in the head Saturday night because he had come to see his mother who was held under a $150 bond and was recognized for his appearance. Overby was fined $10 and costs for refusing to leave the house when Williams ordered him to go.The case against Annie Milliken and Dennis Rowlett, colored, charged with stealing a watch from a man named Cross, was again continued.The case against George Thomas, colored, for shooting a negro named Grace at Grahamville Sunday, was continued.William McNamara, white, who admitted taking a watch from the residence of Mr. C. L. Van Meter Saturday, was held under a $300 bond, waiving examination. He stated to the officers that he would plead guilty and ask the leniency of the court.

NEW THEATER

WORK ON IT IS BEING PUSHED
AT HENDERSON, KY.Manager James E. English and Architect Wm. Brunant left this morning for Henderson, Ky., to inspect the new theater being built there by the English theater company.The building is rapidly assuming shape, the brick work being completed to the roof, and it will probably be finished before the contract time.Manager English is now busy getting ready for the regular season in Paducah. He has not decided yet what he will open with, but thinks the prospects are good for "The Tenderfoot."

PADUCAH COMMISSION CO.TRADES COUNCIL
FORMED AT LASTIllinois Central Shop Employees

Their Own Central Body.

TO ELECT OFFICERS JUNE 27.

The long talked of Trades Council was held last night organized by employes of the Illinois Central shops in Paducah, and the Brotherhood of Carmen's hall at Fifth and Broadway.
The object is to have a central organization composed exclusively of railroad unions, and the council is composed of all the unions represented in the I. C. shops.Formerly all the unions in the Illinois Central shops were a part of the Paducah Central Labor Union, and affiliated with the various other unions in the city.Owing to the fact that frequently matters came up that could not always be settled in a manner satisfactory to union men in the shops and union men in the same trade of calling on the outside, it was deemed best that the railroad employes have an exclusive head, or central body.One by one the separate unions withdrew from the Paducah central body, and everything being complete, the trades council was last night organized, and all the union men of the local I. C. shops are now under its jurisdiction."It will not be a legislative body," said a member today. "We wanted a central body before which matters of peculiar interest to railroad employes might be discussed and settled in a manner satisfactory to ourselves without affecting other similar unions and think this will be better than having such things considered or acted on by union men not associated with railroad work."The council will meet every other Monday the next meeting being Monday, June 27, when officers will be elected.

SALOON DAMAGE

MR. J. R. GRAYS ESTABLISH-MENT ALMOST RUINED.The central fire department was called to the saloon and grocery store of J. R. Gray at Thirtieth and Clay streets, this morning about 1 o'clock to extinguish a blaze in the interior of the saloon department.The fire is of unknown origin as no fire had been left about the premises unless it was a cigar slump, and the loss will amount to several hundred dollars, the grocery stock being damaged considerably by water. The saloon fixtures are ruined and also the greater portion of the stock. It is said the loss is covered by insurance.At the same time the fire department was working on this fire, another alarm was sent from Twelfth and Madison street from the saloon of Mr. Turner. A gasoline stove exploded but the flames were extinguished before any damage was done.

HOPKINSVILLE WEDDING.

The marriage of Miss Stella Moore, of Hopkinsville, and Mr. Ed Hook, formerly of this city, and now of Cairo, will take place tomorrow morning in Hopkinsville. Mr. Hook was connected with the American Express company here, and went to Hopkinsville and later to Cairo. He is very popular in Paducah. After a wedding trip to St. Louis, the couple will reside in Hopkinsville.

SLIGHT DAMAGE TO THE HOUSE

Lightning about noon today struck two houses, 804 and 806 Kentucky avenue, occupied by Officer J. C.
Presnell, merchants policeman, and Mr. J. M. Dunlap, the contractor.
The bolt tore a head off one corner of Mr. Presnell's home and jumped to Mr. Dunlap's, tearing off a board there, also.Mrs. Presnell was on her knees doing some work, and felt as if some one had struck her in the head with something and Mrs. Dunlap, her two daughters, and Mrs. Presnell's cook, were also shocked. None of them was much hurt, but all were badly frightened. Mr. Presnell's cook stated she felt as if some one had struck her in the side with a club, and one of Mr. Dunlap's daughters had a violent headache as a souvenir.The houses seemed to be filled with fire, for a second, and Officer Presnell, who was asleep, was slightly shocked.Neither house caught fire, and neither was damaged much. No other damage was done in the neighborhood by the lightning, so far as reported.

HORSE FELL

Smith Under Its Feet.Little Fellow Had Close Call But Escaped Serious Injury.Emerson, the little son of Mr. W.
B. Smith, had a narrow escape from serious and probably fatal injury, while driving with his mother, Miss Ollie Puryear and Mrs. John U. Robinson, on the Speedway last night.The child was on the front seat of the trap, with Miss Puryear, who was driving, when the horse stumbled and threw the boy over the dash board directly under the horse's feet. Fortunately the animal stood reasonably quiet, and save for a bruise on the side, where the horse stepped on him, he escaped injury.Mrs. Robinson jumped from the vehicle and rescued the child from his perilous position.

AN ASSISTANT

TALKED OF FOR BISHOP M'CLIS-KEY, OF THE KENTUCKY
DIOCESE.It is said that if Bishop McCleskey, of Louisville, of the Diocese of Kentucky, will name the man, he will be appointed as an assistant to the bishop, whose duties have greatly multiplied in the past few years.
The assistant must be thirty years old and an ordained bishop, and will probably succeed the bishop at death.
It is understood that there is much good material in Kentucky, but Bishop McCleskey naturally feels a hesitancy about making a nomination.

—Jeff Caldwell, colored, age 55, died of dropsy last night at 11 o'clock and will be buried this afternoon. He leaves no relatives and lived on Madison street between Sixth and Seventh streets.

—Ed Lewis, colored, who was fined $25 and given ten days in jail in police court yesterday for carrying a concealed weapon, was thought at first to be the Ed Lewis wanted at Ingleside, Ballard county, but he was not.

—Mr. G. R. Davis and a force of men left today for Paris, Tenn., to put on four tin roofs there. They will be absent several days.

—The 11-year old daughter of Mr. Lewis Broyles, of North Sixth street, is quite ill from erysipelas.

—Mrs. R. W. Chiles of the Union Rescue Mission has two girls aged 10 and 8 years for whom she would like to secure homes. They are bright attractive children and any one caring to adopt them, is requested to call on Mrs. Chiles at the mission, 421 South Third street.

TWO EXTRAS

ELECTED BY THE POLICE COMMISSIONERS TODAY.

The police commissioners did not meet last night on account of City Clerk Bailey being busy with the aldermen.

They met instead this afternoon and elected Scott Ferguson first extra policeman and Dick Woods second extra.

Horse and Automobile.

Once upon a time a faithful horse found that his master was using him less and less, and the neglect made him extremely unhappy, though he could not account for it.

One day, while in his pasture, he saw his master riding down the road in a vehicle that moved very rapidly, though there was no horse attached to it. He made inquiry and learned what had brought the change in his life.

"Alas!" he sighed, "I have lost my prestige, and the automobile comes first."

Moral:—The cart is before the horse.

A Talcum Talk...

A good Talcum Powder possesses the following points of excellence:

1. Extreme fineness of powder.
2. The property to absorb moisture when applied to the skin.
3. A perfume that pleases and refreshes.

Try Lazell's Violet Pouds 25c, or Vantine's Kitch Talcum 32c, and see how excellent they are.

GOLD NUGGETS

"How many times I have heard my Mother say laughingly, 'yes I have to pay Caribel's board, and then have to pay her for eating.'"

"As time passed on and I developed into a poor but aspiring typewriter with no one to pay me for eating some years of boarding house fare, hot rolls, tough meat, soggy vegetables, heavy pastry, skimmed milk ice cream, all these showed themselves in dyspepsia and a crop of unsightly pimples.

"You know what that means in case of a woman over twenty-five."

"Something had to be done so I tried the 'no breakfast' plan until my eyes showed the injurious effects of hard work before food put in the stomach had drawn blood from the brain. When I did eat I had to take so much to get a little nourishment and this crowding showed in bad effects on the kidneys and stomach and I would wake in the morning with pains in the head and hot eyes, as the children say, 'with sticks in them.'"

"One day a good housewife sent me to the store for two packages of Grape-Nuts which I was to leave at her home on my way back from work. About 11 o'clock that morning I felt terribly faint and knew the signal was flying for a sick headache, so what did I do but take one of my friend's packages of Grape-Nuts, slit it open with a stick pin and munch about two spoonfuls. If one of the '49ers had left me a fortune in gold nuggets I couldn't have felt better.

"Next morning I had a package of my own and a tip to the waiter brought a little pitcher of cream with an egg beaten up in it and pouring this over the Grape-Nuts I had a delicious little dish that kept me sustained and strong and vigorous until my 2 o'clock lunch, notwithstanding five hours hard work at the typewriter. Grape-Nuts has been my breakfast since that time and note the result—"

"Brain is strong and vigorous, skin and complexion are clear, headaches gone and that terrible 'heavy' sensation of the body has disappeared."

There's a reason.
Look in each pkg. for the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville."

Theatrical Notes.

The Burrill Stock Company made its bow to the Wallace park theater patrons last night and had a large audience to enjoy "The Diamond Robbery," which will be repeated tonight. The specialties are fine and the entire entire performance is one of the best ever given in Paducah.

The Norseman's Nasstrand.

The Norseman's Nasstrand is as unlike the orthodox place of punishment as it is possible for one to imagine. This place of torment for the reprobates of the north is called Nasstrand and is situated far toward the north north and is directly under, beneath, the Scandinavian mythologist's purgatory. A description of Nasstrand as it appears in the "Prose Edda" (written in Iceland in the thirteenth century) is as follows:

"Nasstrand there is a vast and dreadful structure with doors that face the north. This building is formed entirely of the backs and scales of serpents, writhed together like wicker-work. But the heads of the serpents themselves are turned toward the inside of the hall, and they continually vomit forth floods of venom, in which must wade throughout eternity all those who commit murder or swear to lies." Another description of Nasstrand is similar to this, but adds that the evil-doers are occasionally bitten by the great dragon Nidhogg.

Seeing Distances.

About 200 miles in every direction is the distance a man can see when standing on a clear day on the peak of the highest mountain—say at a height of 26,968 feet, or a little over five miles above the level of the sea. An observer must be at a height of 4,367 feet above sea level to see objects at a distance of 100 miles. The distance in miles at which an object upon the surface of the earth is visible is equal to the square root of one and one-half times the height of the observer in feet above sea level. Some allowance has to be made for the effect of atmospheric refraction, but as the refraction varies at different heights and is affected by the various states of the weather, no precisely accurate figures for general purposes can be given. Probably from one-fourteenth to one-tenth of the distance given by the formula would have to be deducted, owing to the refraction of the atmosphere.

Dutch Noses.

A study of Jan Steen's pictures of Dutch home life some 200 years ago proves to conviction that in his day the noses of his country folk were quite as fantastic as they are now. Without their pendulous, heavy, mirth inspiring organs of snell, the artist's tinsy daddlers and peasants, quick doctors and housewives would not make one smile half as much as they do. It is well that the average Dutchman is a good natured fellow. No matter whether his inability be due to his phlegmatic temperament or to the reasoned discipline in his soul, the result is the same to the outer world. If he were naturally disposed to be a prey to his passions, there would be something horribly discordant in the broad comedy of his face.—Chambers' Journal.

A Suggestion for Prudent Men

To the average man five or ten dollars a month saved appears too insignificant to pay for the effort, yet a laying aside of ten dollars each month and the judicious investment of it may prove the beginning of a fortune. These ends are accomplished through the LEVEL PREMIUM SIX-YEAR BONDS of the Southern Mutual Investment Company of Lexington, Kentucky, which specifies the length of the investment period, seventy-four months, consequently the company may buy longer term securities than savings banks, which pay larger profits and are at the same time just as safe. The Southern Mutual Investment Company distributes all earnings amongst investors, in proportion to their investments. Furthermore, this company handles only the safest securities, taking no speculative chances, so that there is no possibility of loss to the bondholder, and he is further protected by the company's deposit of $100,000 with the Kentucky State Treasurer; by the facts that all officers and employees are heavily bonded in Fidelity Companies, and the business is controlled by state laws and under the supervision of state officials.

One unusually attractive feature of the Level Premium Six-Year Bond is that the redemption of coupons during the term of the contract secures an income to the bondholder, which, of course, may be compounded by reinvesting—a thing not accomplished under any other form of installment investment.

Men in any station of life may buy these bonds, and every one receives returns in absolute proportion to the size of the investment. The bond may be paid for by monthly installments of as little as $2.25, and any multiple of $2.25 may be invested.

This company, with its past experience and present earnings as criteria, estimates that on a net investment of $7.40 (extending over a period of seventy-four months) in this bond, the holder should receive a profit of $493.33.

Does any other institution, affording the same security, pay as great a profit in an equal period of time?

Use Shoffner's Sure Cure

The Great Tonic and Blood Purifier—Cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Catarrh.

It is a trite and true saying that the "blood is the life." Now where does the blood come from? Everybody knows, or should know, that it comes from the nutritive elements extracted by the stomach from the food we eat. If the digestive organs do not perform their functions by reason of disease germs, there is no nutrition extracted, and the food might better be thrown in the dump to decay and breed germs in the open air than to remain in the stomach and become a putrid mass, as it naturally does if there is no digestion. No disease germ can live and find lodgment in a human body that uses the Shoffner's Sure Cure. Price $1.00.

What People Say of the Shoffner's Sure Cure.

PADUCAH, Ky., March 5, 1903.
To Whom It May Concern:
This is to certify that I was a sufferer with indigestion for five years and could get no relief until I bought one bottle of Shoffner's Sure Cure, and it helped me so much that I took six bottles, and it has cured me sound and well, thanks to the Shoffner's Sure Cure.

BIG HOLE

Will be Made in City Finances Soon.

July 1st, Much License Money Counted on Will Fail to Materialize.

The effect of the decision of Circuit Judge William Reed last week in the license ordinance case will be felt in a short time now. Judge Reed held that a person could not be charged a license on vehicles unless they were used for hire, as an express wagon and hack, or hired out "as are buggies at livery stables."

July 1st the second half of the city licenses will be due, and the city will collect hundreds of dollars less than estimated when the annual tax apportionment was made. Under the present charter licenses may be paid a half every six months, or all at once, but most all of them are paid half every six months.

The coming six months the city will lose all its grocery, milk, bread, and other wagon licenses.

Some Odd Plants.

There are few plants that have not been killed in one way or another by mankind for food, paper, drugs, or in other ways. Among many not so well known may be mentioned the Japanese wax tree, bearing bunches of fruit growing like grapes which contain a species of wax used in making candles. Another tree, found in the Pacific Islands and known as the candle nut, yields a large quantity of oil, while the kernels are strung together on a stick and lighted as a candle. The fruit of the candle tree is between three and four feet in length and about an inch in diameter, and of a yellowish color. As they are seen hanging from the tree they present the appearance of a number of wax candles. The telegraph plant, which grows in India, is a slender, erect shrub, so called because of some resemblance to signals in the motion of its trifoliate leaves. The two side ones rising and falling alternately for a time, and then resting. Sometimes many of the leaves are in motion, and sometimes only a few, the greatest activity being in the early morning, and not depending on the wind.

New Year's Superstitions.

The following superstitions in connection with New Year's are still believed by various parts of England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales: On New Year's morning go to a well or fountain and leave an apple and money, and the water will keep fresh and be more wholesome all the year. If a dark complexioned man crosses your threshold first on New Year's day you will be prosperous; if a blond, unlucky, and if a red-headed man dismounts your horse, you will follow. Before locking the door for the night on New Year's eve place a gold coin near it and let it remain there until the church bells ring the next morning, and you will have plenty of money all that year. So strong is the belief in this last usage in some places that dark complexioned men are paid a small gratuity to call early and walk through the first floor of the house, entering by the back door and leaving by the front.

Swiss Without a Language.

Among the people of the world the Swiss are alone in having no language they can call their own. According to a recent visitor to the little country about three-fourths of the people of Switzerland speak German, while the remainder divide four other languages among them: namely French and Italian, the languages varying, as a rule, according to the proximity of the people to each country whose tongue they speak. Public documents and notices are printed in both French and German. In the Swiss national parliament the members make their speeches either in French or German, for nearly all the members understand both languages. The orders of the president are translated by an official interpreter and furnished to the newspapers in both languages.

Long Journeys Made by Whales.

The whales that swim about the islands which lie off the coast of Norway and Finland in March and April travel immense distances. In May they turn up at the Azores or even at the Bermudas and sometimes pay a visit to the Antilles. They swim fast, for in June they are back again off Norway. Some of these whales have been known to bring back evidence of where they have been, for harpoons of the peculiar kind used off the coast of South America have been found stuck in them.—St. James Gazette.

Grand Advice.

A shoemaker came to the minister asking his advice because "that sweep, his landlord, had given him notice to quit and he would have nowhere to lay his head." The minister could only advise him to lay his case before the Lord. A week later the minister returned and found the shoemaker busy and merry. "That was grand advice ye gied me, minister," said the man. "I laid my case before the Lord, as ye tellt me, an' noo the sweep's dead."—Glebe's "Scotch Reminiscences."

NAPOLEON, As Seen by His Associates

NAPOLEON'S EARLY LOVES

(Copyright, 1904, by G. L. Kilmer.)

IN.

WHEN Napoleon was in his seventeenth year he had a boyish attachment for Mlle. de Colombier, whose family welcomed him in a social way while he was stationed at Valence with his regiment. In the same circle he met Mlle. de Saint-Germain, of whom he afterwards said, "Of old I loved both her virtues and her beauty."

These affairs seemed to leave no deep impression upon Napoleon's heart, and he remained fancy free until he reached man's estate, or 1795. About that time his thoughts turned to matrimony, hastened possibly by the good fortune of his brother Joseph. Bourrienne, his bosom friend, and in his confidence, says: "He envied Joseph's happiness, who had just married at Marseilles Mlle. Clara, daughter of a rich tradesman in the town who enjoyed a good reputation. 'What a lucky rascal Joseph is!' That was the way in which he expressed the slight feeling of envy that was in him."

Being in Marseilles early in 1795, Napoleon paid serious attention to Mlle. Joseph's sister, Desirée-Eugénie Clary, a girl of sixteen. Letters poured to Joseph during the separation which followed the first season of love-making reveal Napoleon's state of mind. These letters were all written within the space of five weeks.

"Remember me to your wife and to Desirée," he writes cautiously, and still later: "Desirée asks for my portrait. I will have it taken for her. You must give it to her if she still wants it; if not, keep it yourself."

"In order to get to Genoa it seems necessary to cross the river Lethé, for Desirée has not written to me since she went to Genoa."

"I believe you purposely omit all mention of Desirée. I don't know whether she is alive or dead." "If I remain here it is just possible that I might feel inclined to consult the folly of matrimony. I should be glad of a line from you on the subject. You might perhaps speak to Eugénie's brother and let me know what he says, and then it will be settled."

"Continue to keep me carefully informed; talk to me of your plans and try to arrange my business that which I long for."

"Napoleon was in turbulent Paris, awaiting the call of destiny, which accounts for the anxious note in one of his letters from the absent 'Eugénie,' as she signed herself, the name which her lover favored."

"Oh, my friend," she wrote, "take care of yourself for my sake, for I could not live without you. Guard as sacredly as I shall the promise which binds us, for were it broken I should die."

But in spite of her protestations Eugénie was a lax correspondent, and at last Napoleon wrote in despair to Joseph:

"This affair must either be concluded or broken off. I await an answer with the greatest impatience."

"Napoleon is depicted at this time as being in a most hopeless frame of mind. Says the Duchesse d'Angoulême: 'He was morose and physically wretched. He was to be met wandering about the streets of Paris in an awkward and ungainly manner, with a shabby round hat thrust down over his eyes and with his curls down at that time as oysters de chignon badly powdered, badly combed and falling over the collar of the iron gray coat which has since become so celebrated.'"

Communication between the lovers soon lapsed into friendly messages sent in Joseph's letters. Meanwhile Napoleon was rapidly losing himself in Paris. Still inclined to "commit the folly of marrying" himself and to involve other destinies at the same time, he planned three weddings in the family of the Widow Peronne, mother of the Duchesse d'Angoulême. He had conquered the sections and was already flirting with Josephine Beauharnais, and also with two other widows who rejected offers of marriage. Says the Duchesse d'Angoulême:

"Bonaparte proposed to my mother a match between my brother Albert and his sister, Mlle. Pauline Bonaparte, called by her family and all her friends pretty Pauline. This proposal he followed up by the plan of a second alliance between me and his brother Louis or Jerome. 'Jerome is younger than Laurette,' said my mother, laughing. 'Indeed, my dear Napoleon, you are not getting the high priest today; you are marrying everybody, even children.' Bonaparte laughed, too, but with an air of embarrassment. He admitted that when he got up that morning a marriage breeze had blown upon him, and, to prove it, he added, kissing my mother's hand, that he had made up his mind to ask her to commence the union of the two families by a marriage between him and herself as soon as a regard to decency would permit."

"My mother has frequently related to me this extraordinary scene, so that I am well acquainted with it as if I had been the principal actress in it. She eyed Bonaparte for some seconds with an astonishment bordering upon stupefaction and then burst into so hearty a laugh that we heard her in the next room, where there were three or four of us. Bonaparte was at first much vexed at this manner of receiving a proposal which appeared to him quite natural. My mother, who perceived it, hastened to explain herself and told him that it was she, on the contrary, who in this affair played, at least in her own eyes, a perfectly ridiculous part. 'My dear Napoleon,' said she when she had done laughing, 'let us talk seriously. You fancy you are acquainted with my age. The truth is you know nothing about it. I shall not tell it to you, because it is one of my little weaknesses. I shall merely say that I am old enough to be not only your mother, but Joseph's too. Spare me this kind of joke. It distresses me, coming from you.'"

"Bonaparte assured her over and over again that he was serious; that the age of the woman whom he should marry was indifferent to him if, like herself, she did not appear to be past thirty; that he had maturely considered the proposal which he had just made to her, and he added these very remarkable words: 'I am determined to marry. They want to give me a woman who is charming, good tempered, agreeable and who belongs to the Faubourg St. Germain. My Paris friends are in favor of this match. My old friends disapprove me from it. For my own part, I wish to marry, and what I propose to you suits me in many respects. Think about it.' My mother broke off the conversation, telling him laughingly that for her own part she had no occasion to think any further. She gave him her hand and repeated, still laughing, that, though she had some pretensions, they did not aspire so high as to conquer the heart of a man of twenty-six."

Mme. Peronne did not change her mind, and Napoleon wedded the "charming, good tempered, agreeable" Josephine Beauharnais. Then his Eugénie Clary, aroused at last, opened her heart in a pathetic letter.

"You have broken my heart," she wrote him, "yet I am weak enough to forgive you everything. You are married, and I have no longer the right to love and think of you. The only consolation which remains for me is to be assured of your belief in my constancy; then I long for death, for life is a burden now that I may not consecrate it to you. I cannot accustom myself to the thought that you are married. It is too hard, too cruel. I will prove to you that I am more faithful to my engagement than you to yours, and, though you have broken the chain which united us, I shall hold it binding. I shall never marry. I wish you every happiness and all prosperity in your marriage, and I hope that the woman you have chosen will make you as happy as I had meant to do and as you deserve. But in the midst of your happiness remember poor Eugénie and pity her sad fate."

But she did marry, and Napoleon long interested himself in the fortunes of her husband, General Bernadotte. On one occasion he wrote to Bernadotte, who had just been wounded in battle:

"I am glad to learn that Mme. Bernadotte is with you. Pray give her my affectionate regards and tell her that I have one little thing to reproach her with—she might have written me a line giving me the news of Paris, but I will have it out with her when we meet."

Mme. Bernadotte asked Napoleon to stand as godfather to her firstborn, and when he became emperor he showered honors and wealth upon her husband, who was finally called from French battlefields to the throne of Sweden. Said Napoleon:

"Bernadotte's becoming a marshal of France, prince of Pontecorvo and king of Sweden were all owing to his marriage with my first sweetheart."

The first offspring of this marriage, Oscar Bernadotte, married Josephine Beauharnais, daughter of the first Josephine's son Eugene. Oscar succeeded his father on the throne of Sweden, and his son, uniting in his blood that of Bernadotte, Beauharnais and Clary, is the present king of Sweden and Norway, Oscar II. Thus, while the Bonaparte dynasty is extinct, a lineal descendant of Josephine Beauharnais, the wife whom Napoleon divorced, and of Desirée-Eugénie Clary, the sweetheart who accused him of jilting her, wears a crown, which in the natural course of things will remain in the family for generations.

Smoothing Trouble at Sea.

"Once, crossing the Atlantic," said an old traveler, "a tremendous row arose among the sailors. They fought down in the forecabin like a pack of wild beasts. Lunch was going on at the time, and the first officer left the table to see if he could quell the disturbance.

"He had only been gone a little while when the hubbub began to die down. Everything was quiet when he returned. The captain called across the saloon to him in an approving tone: "Things seem to be smoother now."

"Yes," returned the first officer; "we have ironed the sailors, sir."

Minerva and the Flute.

A recent historian suggests a reason why the flute is not popular with ladies. "Minerva in ancient Greece," he says, "began to play the flute, thinking it such a beautiful instrument she needs must learn it. But one day, looking in a mirror while she was playing, she saw to her horror that the act of blowing the flute communicated a very inelegant distortion to her face, and in a pet she threw the instrument away. Perhaps the feelings of the fair sex toward the flute have been sensibly influenced by a similar consideration."

Inquisitive Girls.

Bessie—I almost hate Carrie Dyer! She asks such impudent questions, you know. I was telling her if Frank Haines had asked me to marry him once he had asked me twenty times, and she had the impudence to ask me if he had asked once. Minnie—The idea! But has he, Bessie?—Boston Transcript.

Know the Brand.

"Is that a Lamsac, Mr. Crossin?" asked the visitor, pausing before the painting.
"No," replied the host; "reckon it is a Durban. See how broad it is between the horns, and see the color and curl on its forehead. That's a genuine Durban euro."

Nothing to Speak Of.

Miss Skrawney (giggling)—Mr. Kilder is such a flatterer. Miss Ascum—What has he been saying to you? Miss Skrawney—Oh, tee hee! He's so glib! He told me I had arms like the Venus de Milo!—Philadelphia Press.

Painting His Cows.

Silas—What is old Itube so hot about? Cyrus—Why, an artist asked if he could paint his cows. Silas—That did not hurt the cows, did it? Cyrus—Yes, by heck; he painted a sarsaparilla sign on each one.—Philadelphia Record.

It Is the Mind That Sees.

How do we see? Did you ever chance to think? I have asked quite a number of people lately, and they reply: "With our eyes, of course. How else?" or words to that effect. Did you ever realize how much of our vision is mental? We see nothing properly and definitely until the mind lends its perception. We may gaze stupidly at a picture, yet be unable to see anything but a confused mass of color, because the mind is seeing faces and scenes a thousand miles away perhaps. Call the mental vision back, and the figures on the canvas take their proper places. At once we see the picture. Or shut your eyes. Can you not see the faces of those you love or hate as clearly as you ever saw them with the physical means of sight? How many times one glances at his watch, yet when asked the time as he replaces it in his pocket is unable to tell simply because he looked only with the eyes and not with the mind also.—Exchange.

Music in Japan.

Music in the eyes of the Japanese is a very inferior art, the general belief being that the combination of sounds may possibly please women and children, but that a Japanese gentleman could not possibly tolerate them, no matter under what pretext. In fact, it was not very long ago that the profession of musician was considered by the Japanese as being an insult to human dignity, and whereas there have existed for centuries popular songs which water carriers and the workers in the rice fields sang in chorus as well as war songs sung by the sailors, the profession of musician has been considered unworthy of any man and has been exclusively left with the women, it being largely for the purpose of clearly characterizing and accentuating her inferiority that she has been allowed to exercise her aptitudes and tastes in musical compositions.—Public Opinion.

Bird Characteristics.

Among all the birds of this country the hawk and parrot come the nearest to using their feet like hands. Wading birds and scratching birds develop a very large foot. Birds that are in the air most of the time have much more delicate feet than those that are on the ground frequently. The variety of bills is quite as astounding as that of the claws. The look on the end of the bill almost always denotes a bird of prey. Flat bills denote fly catching birds—kingfishers, herons, etc. The meadow lark that is much on the ground has strong, stout legs, and the oriole, which is more in the air, has slender legs. The stiffened tail is not confined to woodpeckers and chimney swifts, but the bobolink that clings to the long grass has also stiffened tail feathers to help support the bird upright.

Ten Superstitions.

"Spilling the salt" and the ill omen that attaches to it are traceable to the first supper of Christ with his apostles. When it is said that Judas accidentally overturned the salt. Because of the after doom of the unfortunate traitor to spill the salt at table is an accepted sign of future ill luck to happen to the person doing it.

"Thirteen at table" and its unlucky significance originated at this event also. Christ and his twelve apostles dining together for the last time composed the number that has since been regarded with superstitious aversion, not only in the matter of dining, but in almost everything else as well.—What to Eat.

Japanese Fencing.

The Japanese sword is usually wielded with both hands. The cutting plays a much larger part in their sword play than the thrust and point. They also fence with two swords at once, the long, two handed weapon being held in the right hand, while the left uses the shorter and lighter blade. The fencer stands with his right foot forward and his sword held in both hands directly in front of him, his left arm about the level of his waist, its point being at nearly the level of his opponent's eyes.

Bamboo in China and Japan.

For centuries the Japanese and Chinese have raised the bamboo as a practical crop. The natives of tropical India and the Malay archipelago would be as much at a loss without it as the American farmer without his white pine, for they depend upon it not only for their chief building material, but for ropes, mats, kitchen utensils, etc.

The Ideal Beauty in Japan.

In the Japanese ideal of beauty these are the desired "points." Her face and figure, hands and feet and her nose must be long and narrow, her arms and limbs slender and her lips small. Broad hips are the one unpardonable sin. Few Japanese women measure five feet, so the length of the figure is relative.

No One Wants Them.

"Why is it," asked the philosopher, "that misfortunes never come singly?" "Can't say," replied the other man, "unless it is that on account of the reception they get they're afraid to travel alone."

Not Acting His Part.

Customer—Gracious! How loud mouthed and domineering that man is! Is he a member of the firm? Salesman—Yes; he's the silent partner.—New York Times.

"Bobby, here's your penny, and you must go right to bed."
"Pa, I want more pay and longer hours."—Indianapolis Journal.

An inquisitive man is a creature naturally very vacant of thought itself and therefore forced to apply to foreign assistance.—Steele.

Losing a Couple of Anchors.

"It makes me weary," said the skipper of a clipper ship just in from South America, "to buy a newspaper just after I have landed and read that my vessel suffered no loss from the storm except slipping a couple of anchors. How many persons who read that know that ship's anchors are sold by the pound and that each pound costs from 5 to 7 cents? I carried two 5,000 pound anchors and the loss of them means that I am out $600. That wipes the profit of a voyage in double quick time, doesn't it? Some folks talk about ship anchors as though they didn't cost more than marlin spikes."—New York Press.

Loversmaking in Europe.

When a dandy of Europe makes love he helps the girl in the humblest portion of her daily toil. If she smiles upon him, no matter how sweetly, he does not immediately respond, but waits until the next dark night. Then he steals to her house and wakens her as she lies asleep beside her parents. The parents, if they approve, make no sign, but sleep on or pretend to. If the girl accepts she rises and takes from her lover the towel and sweetmeats he has brought her. That seals their betrothal, and he departs as he came, neither speaking nor being spoken to.

A Literary Curiosity.

Here is a literary curiosity: "Satan arripo tenet opera rotas." It is curious because it spells the same words backward as forward. The first letter of each word spells the second word, and so on. The last letters read backward spell the last word, the next to the last letters the next to the last word, and so on throughout. There are also many letters in each word as there are words in the sentence.

Warm Prospect.

Mr. Hardnut—I admit, sir, that my life has not been what it should be, but I truly and unselfishly love your daughter, and if ever I give her a moment's pain I hope I'll be unde to suffer torture for it. Old gentleman (warmly)—Oh, you will. You don't know her.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

makes childbirth easy by preparing the system for parturition and thus shortening labor. The painful ordeal is robbed of its terrors, and the danger lessened to both mother and child; the time of confinement is shortened, the mother rested, and child fully developed, strong and healthy.

Morning sickness, or nausea arising from pregnancy, is prevented by its use.

As pregnancy advances, the breasts enlarge, become swollen and hard. Long before the child is born, they are preparing for the secretion of milk. It is important that they receive early attention. Mother's Friend softens the skin and facilitates the secretion of Life Fluid. Undeveloped breasts, hard-ened shortly after delivery, are the result of neglect, and likely to culminate in Mammary Abscess, from which so many suffer excruciating pain and are left with these organs permanently impaired.

Softness, pliability and expansion are given to the muscles and sinews, thus bringing comfort and causing no easy issue of the child. Try it. Of druggists everywhere. "Mother's Friend" free. THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA.

The Carnation Industry.

The carnation industry has risen to considerable importance during the past ten years, says Town and Country. As 2,500,000 of young carnation plants are sold each year and the florists produce an equal production of young carnation plants approximately 5,000,000 per annum. These plants are grown under glass during the winter time for cut flower purposes, producing an annual average of more than 100,000,000 blooms. What becomes of this enormous number of flowers is somewhat of a mystery.

Beginning of a Big Business.

A man has built up a big business at Puget Sound, near Vancouver, as the result of a holiday excursion. Instead of loafing aimlessly he used his eyes, and, noticing a little fish, which he took to be a marlin, had some tinned, with the ultimate result that his establishment has this year sent out 175,000 cases. And the market is not yet slotted.
